

A faint, light-colored illustration serves as a background for the page. It depicts a woman's face in profile, looking towards the right. The drawing is composed of simple, overlapping lines and washes of color, giving it a sketchy, ethereal quality. The woman's features are delicately rendered, with a focus on her eyes and the curve of her cheek. The overall composition is soft and artistic, blending into the page's texture.

Eine, die gehört werden will.