

A photograph of a forest scene. In the foreground, a large, thick, brown tree trunk leans diagonally from the top right towards the bottom left. To its left, another tall, thin tree trunk stands vertically. The background is filled with a dense forest of green coniferous trees. In the distance, a range of grey, rocky mountains is visible under a clear blue sky with a few wispy clouds. A thin white contrail or light streak is visible in the upper right portion of the sky.
