

An aerial black and white photograph of a valley. In the foreground, a wide river flows from the bottom left towards the right, curving slightly. The riverbanks are lined with trees and fields. To the left of the river, there are large, rectangular agricultural fields. In the middle ground, a town or village is visible, with a prominent church spire. The background is dominated by a range of rugged, rocky mountains under a clear sky.

I.
Landschaft – Raumentwicklung – Bodennutzung